

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A reproduction apparatus and a server system to provide additional information, the reproduction apparatus includes an identifier generator to generate the identifier of the contents, a network connector, and a controller to transmit the identifier generated by the identifier generator to a server system providing the additional information through the network connector, and to receive the additional information provided from the server system through the network connector.